The first error, in which the term “embodiment” is misspelled, was erroneously printed by the Office at the time of issue. References to Embodiments [0081]-[0089] were incorrectly presented in the amended specification filed on June 27, 2007, due to a typographical error on the part of the Applicant. Lastly, the errors which appear in the proviso of claim 1 arose without deceptive intent when the Applicants amended this claim in the Response filed June 27, 2008. In particular, the body of the claim was amended, which obviated some of the scope of the proviso, but the corresponding amendment to the proviso was not made.
